KUIBYSHEV, Nov. 24.—A Russian retreat on some sectors of the great defense are protecting Moscow was announced by the official Soviet radio today.

At the same time, Soviet advisers claimed a major Red army victory on the southern front west of Rostov.

Admission that the Russians have been pushed back in the Moscow zone came as masses of Nazi tanks and infantry troops hammered against the capital's defenses in a vast new offensive.

Checking Onslaughts

"Although they have fallen back to new defenses at some points," the Moscow radio said, "the Russians on the Moscow front are stubbornly checking the enemy's onslaughts."

The radio broadcast also said that on one sector northwest of Rostov the Soviets destroyed 55 enemy tanks, 11 field guns and 365 trucks and shot down 46 aircraft.

The German drive against Moscow was reported by a high com-

Evidently there was an exceptionally strong air current above the city on Sunday afternoon. An airplane was noted late in the day that was seemingly almost standing still high in the air, seeking to travel westward. Finally the plane dropped down a distance and apparently got into air where there was less current and picked up speed to continue the flight westward.

According to one of the proposals for congressional redistricting of the state, Lawrence County, Mercer county, and part of Beaver county would comprise a district. Butler county, now in the district with Lawrence and Beaver counties, would be shifted into another district. Part of Beaver county would be annexed to an Allegheny county district. The plan has not as yet been adopted however.

New Castle and the surrounding area experienced quite a heavy snow storm on Saturday night. The snow was of the wet clinging variety. On Sunday morning the snow had disappeared, the weather apparently moderating during the early morning hours.

Effort to evacuate the army of sparrows that has taken over the trees in the public square will be watched with interest by local citizens. It is rather a difficult task to dislodge birds that have adopted a roosting place. PA News is told.

Fire Sunday Afternoon Is Cause Of Loss

Two Storerooms On East Washington Street Are Ravaged By Blaze

ESTIMATE LOSS WILL BE $15,000

Fire, which started in the basement from an apparently overheated furnace, caused serious damage to the business block owned by Mrs. Lucy M. Covert of R. F. D. No. 1, Edenburg, at 1223-1223 1/2 East Washington street at 1:58 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Loss on the building and contents was estimated at $15,000 by Fire Chief James E. Thomas, only part of which is covered by insurance.

Call Five Fire Companies

Two alarms brought five fire companies to the scene, who fought the fire for two hours before it was finally brought under control, firemen being hampered in their work by dense clouds of smoke and the inaccessibility of the blaze.

The fire is believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, and spread underneath the basement floor to the east side of the building, and through the center wall dividing the two storerooms, working its way into two apartments above, which were occupied by Mrs. Amy Wink and daughter, Lillian, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Henry and three children.

The storerooms were occupied by Cecil Potter, who conducted a market in the west side of the building, and by Mrs. Covert, the owner, who CAIRO, Nov. 24.—Savage hand-to-hand fighting between British and Axis forces was reported from the western desert today as the British high command announced capture of Gambut, strategic outpost 40 miles northwest of Bardia, by crack mechanized New Zealand forces.

"For the last 48 hours," a spokesman announced, "there has been a concentrated tank battle, but the tanks are getting fewer and infantry is coming into it more and more on both sides."

"There has been considerable hand-to-hand fighting on both sides and it is probable that bayonets are being used."

German-Occupied Northern France Undergoes Attack

British Bombers Sweep Over Channel And Drop Bombs On Vital Targets

(International News Service)

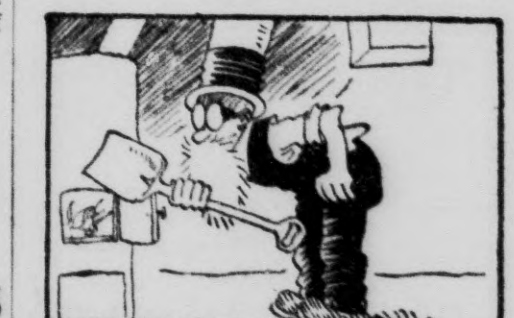

LONDON, Nov. 24.—British fighters staged a new sweep over German-occupied northern France today after R. A. F. bombers hammered the Nazi channel naval bases during the night.

The Air Ministry announced the R. A. F. bombed the docks at Lorient, Brest and Dunkirk as well as enemy airbases in northern France during the night.

This morning the fighters staged their new offensive only a few hours after the bombers returned. During the hours of darkness Nazi raiders appeared over the Thames Estuary, South Wales, and western and southwestern England.

Two of the German bombers were shot down. The Nazis dropped a few bombs, but officials said no casualties or damage resulted.

British Maintaining Air Superiority

Libya Battle Is Waged Furiously

Extremely Difficult To Get Clear Picture Of Libya Drive Says London

ANNIHILATION OF ENEMY IS AIM

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 24.—British aerial superiority has been maintained over the western desert ever since the Libyan offensive began, British military authorities announced today.

They said, however, that it was extremely difficult to present a clear picture of developments and said it should be remembered the Imperial troops are pitted against a "resolute enemy, well commanded, who is fighting very desperately."

The clearest angle at the moment, authorities declared, is that "neither the enemy's strategic nor supply positions are very good."

Hard Fighting
Extremely hard and confused fighting was declared to be in progress, and authorities said it is "still too early to assume exactly how the present phase of the battle is going to turn out."

"Progress of the battle must not be judged in alternating moods of optimism and pessimism, but as a whole."

It was stated the campaign must be viewed in three phases.

The first phase was concerned with getting the forward British armored divisions to suitable positions and a shoudering movement against the frontier defenses to dislodge the enemy by means of a surprise attack.

This phase, authorities declared, has been concluded "satisfactorily."

The second phase was described as "annihilation of the enemy and prevention of his escape." Authorities ties declared this stage of the campaign has "resolved itself into a dog fight which is still proceeding and regarding which it is impossible to give a clear picture."

The third stage will depend largely on the outcome of the present phase, but will include re-establishment of British positions.

In the absence of fresh news from the British headquarters and pending today's communiqué, authorities declared, "there is no sense in guessing."

But they said they assumed the operations are "proceeding satisfactorily."

mand war bulletin, which also stated three enemy transport vessels were sunk by Soviet warships in the Barents Sea, north of Archangel.

The victory on the southern front was reported by the Moscow radio. The Russian announcer said a German rifle corps, an SS (storm troop) division and a tank division were routed on the southern front west of Rostov.

By last night, the broadcast claimed, the Red army units were still pursuing the enemy after advancing 37 miles. The Germans were said to have lost more than 7,000 officers and men killed by the charging Soviets.

Reiterating the enemy was battering furiously at Moscow and the Don river port of Rostov (which the Germans already claim to have captured), the midnight war bulletin said the tide of battle outside Moscow has swept to the town of Klin, on the Moscow-Leningrad railway, about 45 miles northeast of the capital.

Violent Battling
"Particularly violent" fighting was announced in the directions of Klin, Volokolamsk, Tula and Rostov. (Stockholm dispatches to London said the Germans had thrown 250,000 more troops and immense tank reserves into the battle for Moscow in an "all-out effort to set up winter quarters in Moscow."

One report said six major battles were raging along the entire Russian front, adding the Russians flung back the Germans around Leningrad in the north, while elsewhere the Nazis "appeared to be progressing."

Other Russian advances claimed the Nazis had been driven back 22 miles at one point of the Donetz basin. The attacks on Moscow's defensive are argued with increasing violence and were believed to have precipitated the heaviest battles of the entire Russo-German war.

According to the Moscow radio, one Red army division alone destroyed 270 German tanks, 35 motorcycles and 300 motor trucks in five days of combat.

These same troops were said to have accounted for 50 German field guns, 200 mine-throwers, several anti-aircraft batteries and were killed or captured 4,000 officers and men.

On Saturday officials claimed the Germans retreated several miles in the Volkhov sector under Red army pressure.

issue in the hands of the three-man arbitration board.

The board, consisting of Lewis, as representative of the miners; Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, as member for the mine owners; and John R. Steelman, labor department conciliation chief representing the public, may reach a decision within the week.

They have only one matter to decide—whether the United Mine Workers are entitled to a union shop which was the sole issue in the week-long strike.

Congress Should Act
Mr. Roosevelt's belief that congress should act despite the settlement of the mine war was made known through Rep. Mary T. Norton (D) N. J., chairman of the house labor committee, who called the committee into session today to consider legislative proposals.

A senate judiciary subcommittee considering the Contingent bill, which would give the President wide power to seize strike-bound industries was to hear testimony by Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal.

House leaders disclosed approval of a proposal to require a 30-day "cooling off" period before strikes and a secret strike ballot, which could not be held for 30 days after notice was given. Meantime efforts would be made to settle any dispute.

Warning labor that defense strikes "must be stopped and will be stopped" Speaker Rayburn said, in a forum of Texas Legislators for radio stations of that state, that the drive to assure continuous production of war materials will be carried out despite ending of the coal walkout.

ton meanwhile revealed that this week may prove the crucial one in the American-Japanese exploratory talks.

Tokyo is expected to reach a decision as to whether or not it is willing to proceed with the discussions on the basis of the principles laid down by Secretary of State Hull. One of the principles is Japan's withdrawal from the Axis alliance.

Although a wide difference of opinion still exists between the two countries on the points at issue, the conversations have not reached a complete deadlock.

There are definite indications that Japan would like to get around Axis difficulties by letting the alliance become a dead letter without renouncing it outright.

Demand Axis Renunciation
Tokyo is understood to feel that this could be accomplished by assurance that Japan would not move further south in the Pacific.

THANKSGIVING . . .
THURSDAY IS THANKSGIVING DAY, and none of us need to sit down and try to think of what we should be thankful for. If we would spend all our time from now until Thursday, trying to count our blessings, we would only have made a start, by that time. And, we must not only be thankful for our blessings, as there are a great number of our disappointments that turn out to be a great deal more beneficial to us than a lot of things that we feel are blessings.

I have lived for a long time, and the longer I live, the more convinced I am of this truth: "THAT GOD GOVERNS IN THE AFFAIRS OF MEN."—Franklin.

Gifts for the Carassone Mountain Community Center in Gander, Ky. were turned over to the chairman, Mrs. F. A. Pinkerton, which will be forwarded for Christmas.

An interesting highlight of the afternoon, was an account of "Schools Of The 1812 Period" presented by Mrs. W. D. Coburn. She told in an interesting manner, of the early schoolmasters and their teachings, with a vivid description of the "one room school" as well as the scholars.

"WISHING WELL" PARTY HONORS MRS. E. HERMAN

"The Wishing Well" provided a perfect theme for one of the seasons loveliest parties, honoring Mrs. Edward Herman, nee Hazel Emery when Miss Elizabeth Waite entertained Saturday evening in her home at 12 North Front street, for a gathering of friends.

Preceding the planned entertainment, a tasty collation was served the group at a table cleverly arranged with a miniature midnight blue "Wishing Well" as the centerpiece. An arrangement of white baby mums were also used. Afterwards the guests upon adjourning to the living room, again found themselves looking into a larger "Wishing Well" around which were placed many beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous nature for the bride.

"Helpful Hints For The Bride" were recorded in a special booklet for the honoree, and a contest in sailing midget "good luck" boats across the well, rounded out the informal program. Prizes for this feature were carried off by Miss Helen Skelton and Miss Betty Hannon. Other games were also enjoyed.

Mrs. Herman the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Emery of 19 North Front street, is a bride of October.

Those honored were Mrs. Ralph Gibson, Miss Mary Ellen Henderson, Miss Jean Pugh, Mrs. Russell Remaley, Miss Marjorie Updegraff and Mrs. Albert Wagner.

Guest pianist for the afternoon was Miss Marian Thomas, whose selections were Debussy's "Clair de Lune" and Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me." Miss Thomas was introduced by the chairman of the program committee, Miss Marjorie McGeorge.

From a tea table beautifully appointed in a color scheme of yellow and white and lit by yellow tapers, Miss Marian Berglund, president of the club, poured tea for the 30 guests.

The committee in charge of arrangements, headed by Mrs. George Winter, Jr. included Mrs. James A. Bickett, Miss Helen Bruce, Mrs. Robert F. Muse and Mrs. Russell Remaley.

On December 4 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Ambrose H. Casey, 2309 1/2 Highland avenue, when Dr. David L. Perry will speak on "Tuberculosis."

THOSE TWO ELDER STATESMEN

SENATOR GEORGE W. NORRIS, Nebraska, is 80 years old and has decided that he will retire from congressional service when his present term expires in 1943. He has been on the job in Washington for forty years, and who would begrudge him a vacation if he feels like taking one.

But there's Senator Carter Glass, Virginia, who at 85 is just getting his legislative steam up. He's figuring on running again next year for a six-year-term. At its close he would be 90, but what of that? Couldn't he run again if he wanted to?

These two old boys put most of us to shame. They are filling leading roles in the affairs of their country at ages when a lot of us, if present at all, would be hugging the chimney corner and mumbling incoherently about something that happened in 1914 or 1898.

How do they keep going? Don't ask us. Possibly by eating apples, breathing deeply and exercising political tact. Anyhow, best wishes to them.

JAPAN'S STAND

It will be apparent in the next few days whether there is sufficient ground for compromise between the United States and Japan to avoid serious trouble. Kuru, the special envoy, is now in Washington exploring at first hand all of the possible compromises. Official Tokyo is in a state of dither to hear what Kuru may turn up.

Washington officials are deeply interested in any recession from Japan's previous position Kuru may have brought.

For years Japan's international policy has been looking toward the division of the world into "spheres of interest." Japan was to have Eastern Asia and the Antipodes. Europe was consigned to Germany, Italy was to have the Mediterranean and much of Africa, while the United States was granted the spot in the western hemisphere, with Britain retaining such portion of its empire as was left after this division.

All of Japan's military and diplomatic moves since the seizure of Manchuria have been with the design of making Japan supreme from Siberia through China and the East Indies to Australia.

Through several administrations Washington officials have been consistently chary of this Japanese plan. They suspect the inclination and the ability of Japanese to administer the destiny of 400,000,000 Chinese with justice and to give equal rights in vital sea lanes and economic supplies in that part of the world once Japan is in complete control.

Japan's continued insistence upon total Asiatic conquest will make the peace effort awkward. But important Japanese concessions could still avert what appears now to be a rapidly approaching crisis.

BUILDING THE SHIPS

Congressional sanction to arm American merchant ships for the transportation of contraband of war to any port will now focus attention upon the capacity of shipyards to turn out replacements for the number of vessels that may be sunk.

It is regarded as a foregone conclusion that the Axis will increase its submarine effort in the Atlantic to keep as many ships from reaching Britain as possible. Accelerated submarine activities in the Mediterranean are also probable if American ships are to be routed by way of Africa, as indicated. Italy has been having some minor successes in attacks upon merchantmen and even warships by torpedo plane. The British have undergone more attacks upon their warships in the Mediterranean than anywhere else.

The hope is, of course, that the American Navy, conveying ships in the Atlantic, will release sufficient British war vessels to make it hot for the modern pirates of the Mediterranean. An increase in American convoy protection for its merchant vessels is to be anticipated unless the utmost possible concentration of men of war in the Pacific to meet Japan is called for.

But at best this nation must prepare to face the eventuality of a considerable increase in the sinking of its ships. That will call insistently for ample replacements. During the World War America made a great record in the quantity production of merchantmen. In this emergency more and more shipyards are being opened and operated at capacity.

In another year, it is predicted, the expansion in shipbuilding will reach the highest pitch of all time.

NEW INDIANA FOR THE NAVY

Launching of the 35,000-ton battleship Indiana a day or two since sent the fifth war vessel for the United States Navy into the water in a week from American shipyards. The others included three destroyers and a new submarine. That's a good week's work.

With the Indiana afloat, the Navy now has five huge ships of this type in advanced stages of completion or, in the cases of the Washington and North Carolina, in actual service. The sixth and last battleship of this tonnage, the Alabama, is under construction.

They represent, even at present stages, an increase of our strength on the seas of immeasurable importance; one of the most notable developments in our naval history, because of the unusually short periods in which these vessels were built.

The first Indiana, built at Cramp's and commissioned November 20, 1895, was one of the first battleships in the modern sense constructed for our Navy. She was part of Sampson's fleet and participated in the destruction of Cervera's ships at Santiago in the Spanish-American War. In the late 1900's she lay out of commission at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. In 1920 she was sunk when used as a target in experimental firing and later sold for junk.

The old timer was a little over 10,000 tons and a redoubtable sea-going slugger in her day. Her new namesake is three and a half times as heavy. These 35,000-ton ships are freely accounted by experts as the most powerful battleships afloat today. Yet they are only a beginning and were actually projected before we started the Two-Ocean Navy.

Notable records have been made in their construction. That fact has played an appreciable part in strengthening the position of the United States in the world crisis. Maintenance by American shipworkers of such high-speed construction, particularly in increasing the cruiser fleet, will rapidly diminish the dangers from a two-ocean war and lessen the chances that one will occur.

Who remembers the old reactionary days in the United States when "Strike!" was a term used in baseball games?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

OVERCOMES BABY'S SENSITIVENESS

"Dear Mr. Myers: I read in your column of the baby who was frightened by the carpet sweeper. Your column has helped me solve so many problems. I feel I would like to pass along my solution to the sweeper problem."

"My son was frightened by the sweeper and screamed as soon as he saw it. One day I put the sweeper in the living room, took David on my lap and started to sing. He has always tried to sing when he hears music, so while we were singing I turned the sweeper on and he hardly noticed it. I then shut it off, stopped singing and told him we were going to sing while I used the sweeper. I don't suppose he really understood, but he was only a year old, but I put him in his walker singing loudly all the while and then turned on the sweeper and started to push it. He looked a little startled but he just kept on singing and stayed in the room with me until I finished."

Works Like a Charm
"Now as soon as I get the sweeper out David starts to sing even before I turn it on. He is 14½ months old now and wants to help push it around."

I hope other mothers find this helpful.

"My dear Mr. Myers:
"Permit me to say how much your letter to me has meant concerning the teaching of phonics to my first grade class. You probably do not remember, but you advised me to use a scrap book, with pictures of words beginning with the letters of the alphabet. I wish that you might see the children's scrap books. They are full of pictures and letters and words, simply done but most effective."

Learn Sounds of Letters

"I enclose some samples of the work. I am proud of them and the children and their parents will always cherish them. It seems to have made an indelible impression upon them of the sounds of the individual letters, and I feel sure it will be invaluable to them in school work next year."

We also made a poster of a number of words beginning with the same letter. For instance, I have one on the wall that has these pictures on it: ball, boy, bread, bat, bell, banana, boot, bus, buggy and several others. We have one for the letter A and C and so on down the alphabet. Each child can point to the picture and immediately associate the word beneath it with the sounds of the letters."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My child eleven months old will drink milk from a spoon, but refuses to drink it from a cup or bottle. If I force her to drink it she cries and lets it run out of her mouth. She enjoys all her solid foods.

A. Since milk is so essential, offer a small amount of it first at each meal. If she turns her head away or closes her lips remove it and let the meal end there. Be sure she can get no other food till the next meal, when milk will first be offered again, letting her choose as before between that or nothing. Continue in this fashion until she chooses to drink the small amount of milk offered. Success will depend on your faith and persistence. In case nausea or any other irregularity develops call your doctor.

Sun sets tonight, 4:38; sun rises tomorrow, 6:56.

There are two things that go together in success. One is intelligence and the other is experience. Of course work also cuts a big figure.

Our idea of being lucky this time of the year is not to have pipes dug up in the street in front of our house.

"I hope I haven't kept you up too late," said the young man anxiously, as he prepared to bid the girl goodbye. "Not at all, mister," she yawned. "We would be getting up at this time anyway."

And you care not for its beauties
Do not shorten our few hours.

THE IMPORTANCE OF GOOD MANNERS

"To impress their importance on my child, I tell him that good manners are indispensable in social life—that they are more important than money, clothes, 'book learning' or any other mental or physical asset. Am I right?"—Mater.

Answer: I think you are! In social and business life, we naturally turn to people with whom we can be at ease. When we are introduced to strangers, their first interest is not our financial status, the extent of our wardrobe or whether we possess an A.B. degree. Their first impression is whether we are bores or civilized... whether we are refined or uncouth... gentle or rough. There is no personal asset of greater value than good manners. They depend on knowledge of many things: Knowing how properly to handle your silver at the table... when to rise... how graciously to accept an introduction... being poised and at ease. Good manners pay excessive dividends. Through them, you will make friends wherever you go.

Question: Could you give me some suggestions for arranging my breakfast room? May I have linoleum on my floor? What kind of furniture should I choose?—Anne.

Answer: A breakfast room may have a gayer character than a dining room. Furniture painted in a bright color will do much toward making this room the cheerful, joyous place that one will enjoy for the morning meal. Breakfast room furniture comes in suites like dining room pieces—table, chairs, china, closet and serving table. If your breakfast room is situated in that section of your house in which the morning sun pours profusely you may properly place harmonizing draperies on your windows... plain material, chintz or gingham. If the sun does not reach this room until later in the day, glass curtains of a thin white or a cream material will be more satisfactory.

Question: Is it customary and proper for a girl receiving her engagement ring to present her fiancé with a gift? If so, what is proper to give?—P.

Answer: It is not customary but may be done. Suggestions for gift: Cuff links, evening studs, a watch, a ring, etc.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

A minister walking round his parish met an old parishioner. "Well, John," he said, "how is it that I haven't seen you at church lately?"

"Haint got no Sunday trousers," answered John.

"Well," said the clergyman, "I have a pair at home that will fit you. I'll have them sent over."

The trousers were sent and on the following three Sundays John was seen at church. Then, after being absent for some time, the clergyman met him again.

"Well, John," he said, "you have had no excuse for not coming to church lately."

"Look here?" parson," said John. "I came to church three Sundays and if you don't think I earned them trousers, just tell me how many more Sundays I shall have to come before they're mine."

"Snail and boiler compound," "sweet roll and coffee;" "string of flats," "wheat cakes," "varnish, syrup," "brace of headlights," "two fried eggs," "hot em' over," "graveyard stew," "dim milk toast," "dish of cinders," "grapefruit," "pair of retreads," two doughnuts.

Latin America Impatient Over Deliveries
Uncle Sam's Civilians Are Also Howling
South America Threatens Boycott Later On

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Uncle Sam's civilians may howl to their hearts' content over their inability to get lots of things that they want and are able to pay for but can't have because they simply aren't being produced in the face of defense and lease-lend requirements' monopoly of practically the country's whole industrial capacity. The pinch is beginning to be felt already, a few introductory howls are to be heard in response to it and they're bound to be louder and louder and more and more numerous.

It won't make much difference in the long run, though. The howlers will just have to wait and do their buying when the emergency's over. Probably they'll need to do a plenty of it and Yankee salesmanship will get the benefit of their trade as soon as it's again equipped to fill their orders.

Latin America's different, however. Our southern neighbors show signs now of impatience at delay in the delivery of goods they have their applications in for with our exporters.

Several of their spokesmen made talks on the subject at a recent meeting of Pan American businessmen in this country. They said they thought it would be to our own advantage for them to express themselves plainly and warned us that we'll give them what they ask for when they ask for it, or after the emergency, they'll be apt to turn elsewhere for the stuff they want to import or do without altogether.

Diplomatic information's to the same purport. What the Latin Americans require is, of course, manufactures, notably machinery. They produce raw materials of their own in tremendous quantities but are very shy on facilities for processing them.

Ang machinery naturally is exactly what our defense and lease-lending activities absorb our entire output of.

Obvious Objectives
It also is precisely what countries like England and Germany can compete with us on, as soon as they get through fighting. It's a foregone conclusion that Latin American markets will be the immediate objectives that they concentrate on directly after peace's restoration, no matter which side wins. In the meantime, our neighbors have formed the habit of buying from us, we'll have 'em pretty well established as permanent customers. If not, it's strongly intimated that

Enact Leading Roles In Famous Operas To Be Given In The Cathedral

CURTAIN RISES
AT 8:30 O'CLOCK

Grand opera will be presented in New Castle for the first time in many years on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in The Cathedral with two well known local artists: singing and dramatizing feature roles.

GULA KEAGY

The nationally known Venice Grand Opera company of New York, comprised of 12 of the top ranking artists in grand opera and the famous San Carlo Opera Company chorus, will present two of the greatest operas ever written, "Cavalleria Rusticana" (rustic chivalry) and "Pagliacci" (Punchinello). Tobe Fenati, the former New Castle high star tenor, enacts the difficult role of Canio in "Pagliacci". The handsome local tenor has all the requisites that spell success in the grand opera world.

Grand Opera Debut

Fenati's voice is warm in timbre and he acts superbly. For the local young man, tomorrow's performance will be his second here and his debut in grand opera. Several months ago, he was featured in a concert and scored a decided hit.

Proceeds from the show will be used to further Fenati's studies in voice and dramatics.

Gula Keagy, the popular local contralto, has gained acclaim in grand opera circles, the concert stage and has appeared on numerous radio programs. She will sing and dramatize the role of Lola, the leading role in "Cavalleria Rusticana."

The "Cavalleria Rusticana" cast is augmented by such talented and nationally known artists as Gertrude Ribba, the famous Jewish dramatic soprano, who enacts the part of Santuzza; Frederick Schweppe as "Turiddu"; Carlo DeStefani as Alfio and Adele Livingston as Mama Lucia.

The "Pagliacci" cast, in addition to Mr. Fenati, includes Maria Vero as Nedda; Martino Rossi, an internationally known maestro who appears as Tonio; Costante Sorvino as Beppe; and Carlo DeStefani as Silvio.

Twenty-five members of the Youngstown Symphony Orchestra conducted by the eminent maestro Fulgenzio Guerrieri, of New York will play for both operas. Michael and Carmine Picocelli, of Youngstown, will be the concert masters.

Metropolitan Opera company scenery and costumes will be used exclusively. Antonio Stivanello will be the stage director.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Once the operas start, no one will be admitted to the auditorium.

Judging by the advance sale of tickets, one of the biggest crowds in several seasons will gather to enjoy one of the highest types of entertainment in the theatre world.

Tickets are on sale at Reynolds & Summers. Phone, 2368.

Two Burglaries
On North Hill

Blair And Hawkins Residences
Robbed While Occupants Away

Burglars robbed two residences last night while the occupants were away from the homes, according to Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen, who has assigned Detectives Chief R. A. Criswell and assistants to the case.

While the George D. Blair, Jr., family of 208 E. Moody avenue, and maid were absent, someone entered the house through a cellar window and after ransacking the house escaped with a sum of money, some old jewelry, a fur coat and luggage.

The burglary was discovered by a maid about 1 a. m. who immediately had an alarm telephoned to police headquarters from a nearby residence.

At 8:55 p. m. Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hawkins, 302 East Moody avenue, arrived home, Mrs. Hawkins, while opening a door saw two men jump through a side window. Mr. Hawkins had driven the car to the garage.

Upon investigation Mr. Hawkins found that a sum of money had been stolen from the residence.

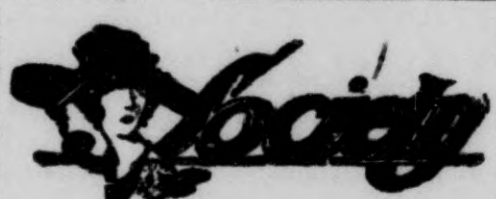

In both places, entrance was gained through a cellar window and the burglars next opened another window to afford them a quick exit. Police also were told by Jesse Benzinak, 916 West Washington street, proprietor of a store at that address, that burglars had robbed a pin-ball machine. Entrance was gained through a rear window.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Following local people were in Butler Saturday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Margaret Deskin: Miss Winona Hill, Smithfield street; Dorothy Kennedy, Richelleu avenue; Mrs. Glendora Moore, Milton street, and Mrs. Griffiths and son, Paul, of Richelleu avenue.

MINOR-BURNS CEREMONY
AT HOME IN PLAINGROVE

Before an improvised altar of palms and cabbotum ferns, interspersed with baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums, arranged in front of a large window in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Minor in Plaingrove, their daughter Avanelle became the bride of Robert Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Burns of Plaingrove, at a wedding ceremony performed on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Edward Tuten, pastor of the Plaingrove Presbyterian church, officiated.

As the guests assembled preceding the ceremony, Miss Gay Rodgers played selections of wedding music including "Intermezzo" and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice". Miss Mary Elizabeth McCommons, accompanied by Miss Rodgers, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". The processional numbers were "A Love Dream" and the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin", with Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a white silk jersey, floor-length, with full skirt and fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline and short full sleeves. She wore a halo head of white roses. The necklace of pearls which she wore, for "something old", belonged to her aunt, Miss Hilda Nicholson. Her bouquet was of white roses and baby mums with a shower of satin ribbon and baby mums.

Miss Emogene Minor, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a gown of blossom blue crepe and carried a bouquet of pink roses tied with blue ribbon. She wore a halo band of pink roses. Donald C. Burns, Jr., served as his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Minor home for 65 relatives and friends. The wedding cake was a beautifully decorated five-tiered one.

After the reception, the bride and groom left on an eastern trip. Both Mr. and Mrs. Burns are graduates of Plaingrove high school. Mrs. Burns attended Slippery Rock State Teachers' college. Mr. Burns is affiliated with the Cooper-Bessmer Corporation in Grove City.

Jackson road, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Park and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gibson of the Edinburg-Hillsville road.

Mr. and Mrs. Biddle received a number of lovely and useful gifts.

Sister Entertainers

Entertaining with a miscellaneous shower on a recent evening at their home, Miss Betty Mae Crane was hostess to a group of friends in honor of her sister, Phyllis Crane who will marry Jack Carlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carlin, South Lafayette street, next Saturday, November 29, at an open church wedding in St. Margaret's church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Crane of 833 West Hazel street.

December Has Many Dangers

Proves Most Hazardous Month Of Year For Motorist, Red Cross Warns

PEDESTRIANS ALSO WARNED

With the nation experiencing winter's first broadside of sleet and snow, the American motorist is beginning the "danger" months of driving.

Weather conditions, lengthening hours of darkness and the added hazards of holiday rush and celebration result in December being statistically the most hazardous month of the year, according to Harry J. Culliford, chairman of first aid of the Lawrence County Chapter American Red Cross. On a basis of last year, more than 3,500 persons will make page one news as victims of automobile accident fatalities.

Contrary to the popular belief that the rush hours of morning and evening are the most dangerous periods of the day, Mr. Culliford points out that "mile for mile" there are nearly three times as many accidents between two and three a. m. as there are between eight and nine a. m.

Statistics reveal that one in every 49 persons injured in daytime crashes dies, while at night the rate is doubled. More than half of all pedestrian fatalities occur during the six hours preceding midnight. Snow, sleet, rain and fog add to December's seasonal hazards. The Red Cross urges double caution while driving under these conditions—caution in the motorist handling his own car as well as keeping a vigilant eye on the other fellow. Highways will be more crowded than usual this winter due to transportation of military supplies and an increased industrial load.

Holiday celebrants give rise to serious traffic problems, it was stressed. John Barleycorn makes a dangerous backseat driver. The motorist who thinks he is just as capable after a few drinks is nominating himself and his passengers as headline candidates if the law of averages runs its course.

With increased traffic congestion added to adverse weather conditions, December is also a perilous month for the pedestrian. The Red Cross emphasizes that the pedestrian invariably comes out second best in an encounter with an automobile and warns that the man on foot should be willing to go more than half way in avoiding such an encounter—though he may be legally entitled to right-of-way.

Mayor Urges All Out Support Of Seal Sale Here

Issues Statement Today Praising Work Of Tuberculosis Society In County

MAYOR CHARLES B. MAYNE

The campaign against tuberculosis, made possible by Christmas Seals, merits the support of all people, Mayor Charles B. Mayne said today in praising the activities of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Association.

The mayor's statement follows: "As the Christmas season approaches, my mind is drawn to the fact that it is again time for all of us to give support to the sale of Christmas Seals.

This is such a well established custom in the United States that it seems hardly necessary again to call the attention of the people of New Castle to its importance.

Tuberculosis still menaces the lives of all our citizens, and it leads to the cause of death of those between the ages of 15 and 45. The fine work that has been done by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Association in the prevention of this dreaded disease merits the continued support of all the people of Lawrence County.

Signed, Charles B. Mayne, Mayor.

New Warehouses At Army Post At New Cumberland

(International News Service) NEW CUMBERLAND, Nov. 24.—With the completion of three new warehouses having 27,360 square feet of storage space, all quarter-master supplies of the army reception center here are being moved from the nearby army general depot, where they have been stored temporarily, to the center's own buildings.

The new warehouses are of the temporary cantonment type of wooden structure and have loading platforms on each side and separate heating plants for each building. Paved roads encircle each structure and connect with main roads on the post. Supplies stored in these buildings are requisitioned by the post quartermaster, Capt. Fred Ritter from various army depots and commercial concerns.

Articles stored in the warehouses include rations, clothing, and individual equipment for the personnel of the 1301st service unit here and also for the selectees who are processed at this center. In addition, the warehouses contain such items as coal, oil, gasoline, bedding, furniture and office supplies.

We had our first chance at Latin America during the last war. Our trouble was that, with the exception of a few Yankees concerns, like Ford automobile, International Harvester machinery and Remington typewriter makers, we scarcely knew then that there was such a place. Nevertheless, in spite of our dumbness, we did considerable selling there, the Latin's European sources of supplies being shut off so completely. Even after we got into the 1914-18 conflict, we didn't so intensively concentrate on armament as we're doing today, and our sales kept up, more or less, until the Armistice.

Then, so far as we were concerned, the whole thing petered out, except Ford autos, International Harvester, Remington typewriters and General Motors. It needn't have petered, but we just lost interest, or hadn't learned to take any.

Another Opportunity Today we've another opportunity. Perhaps it's an absolute impossibility for us to avoid ourselves of it, but we've been told unmistakably, by the Latins themselves, that we're not considered to be behaving quite as Good Neighborly as we've professed to be.

Donald M. Nelson, O. P. M.'s priorities director, has suggested a plan for educating Yankee producers of civilian stuff to use substitute raw materials for their junk, so as not to be put out of business by defense's demands on the raw supplies to turn into military and naval essentials.

In Pan Americanism's interests it would pay him to conjure up some scheme for substituting the that is, if we want to hang onto their trade in perpetuity.

Owing to high operating speeds of the modern motor car, proper tire care has become a very important factor in the correct and safe performance of the automobile as the longevity of many moving parts on the car has been found to depend a great deal upon proper balance. Huge Clipper Ships Will Soon Ply Air Lanes To Africa

New Capetown Clipper Has Already Taken Off On 'Proving Flight'

By LEONARD SCHLEIDER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Inaugurating regular air service from the United States to Africa, the first of a fleet of giant Clippers has begun the task of bringing what was once the Dark Continent a mere five days from New York's skyscrapers.

With government officials and airline technicians as sole passengers, an American Airways recently sent the new Capetown Clipper on her maiden voyage over the 9,253-mile route.

The first trip, known as the "proving flight" and required by regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Board began at New York November 10.

Three representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Board inspected basic facilities, examined operation of weather bureaus and radio stations and observed operating conditions along the South Atlantic route. Meanwhile, the Pan-American flight crew of 14 and airline technical experts checked weather, wind and water data with reports compiled over many months of research.

Value Primarily Military
Although the new route is expected to have great commercial possibilities in the future, its present value is primarily military. It will be used for the movement of lend-lease materials and U. S. military and technical missions to British and Allied forces operating in Africa and the Near East.

of the trans-oceanic route was delegated by the government to Pan-American. The airline's bases in the West Indies and Brazil were enlarged and new ones built in Africa.

Witch-Hazel Plant Flowers In Bloom

One Of Attractions Of State Forest Recreational Areas At Present Time

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—One of the attractions at the state forest recreational areas at this time of the year are the flowers of the witch-hazel plant, which are now in full bloom, according to Milford Bratton, acting director of the Bureau of Parks, Department of Forests and Waters.

Witch-hazel is the only woody plant native to Pennsylvania that bears ripe fruit and flowers at one and the same time. This widely distributed shrub is the last one to bloom during the year. The bright yellow flowers, occurring in small clusters, begin to emerge late in October and are in full bloom during the month of November. As the flowers appear the woody, yellowish-brown fruit pods, resulting from blossoms of the previous year, split open and forcibly expel the smooth, shiny-black seeds.

Witch-hazel trees are found in all of the state forest districts where they occasionally reach heights of 20 feet and diameters of eight inches. They are picturesque objects in the wintry landscape with their bright yellow flowers, which are seldom injured by low temperatures.

The familiar witch-hazel extract is obtained by distillation of the leaves, bark, twigs or entire plant.

Welfare Offices Moved But Many Visit Old Place

Although M. B. Hogue, welfare director of the county, has his offices in a small building between the court house and the annex, there are still people who think the offices are in the residence building on Court street across from the court house.

About twice a week some person seeking information or relief from Mr. Hogue walks into the house and by now the tenants are beginning to get a bit bored with it all. Co—if you have business with Mr. Hogue or the welfare office, remember that the office is between the court house and the annex.

To find hidden crooks, give a sucker a roll of bills and turn him loose and follow him.

Soybean Crop Is Growing In State

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—The production of soybeans is a growing business in Pennsylvania and this year's yield should be well above a quarter-million bushels, State Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light announced.

There is increasing evidence that soybean processors are looking more and more to this state as a probable source of supplies, Light explained. One out-of-state processor has acquired a small plant in the northern section of the state and is planning to expand operations.

"During the past few years there has been a steady increase in the production of soybeans for use as roughage for cattle and as pro-tion advanced the growing of the crop for the beans also has increased, Light said.

Isn't it strange how quickly a new bootleg or gambling joint is

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

ADJUST. REPAIR FARM MACHINERY THIS WINTER

The annual overhauling of farm machinery during the winter months, always regarded as a good management practice, is now a necessity. The unlimited repair stocks of the past will not be available in the future so that farmers who delay repair work may be seriously inconvenienced. Reconditioning machines this winter will assure they are in shape for the 1942 crop season. The owner should be sure that whoever overhauls the machine thoroughly understands how to check and make the necessary adjustments.

Simply replacing worn or broken parts does not mean that satisfaction will be secured from the overhaul job. The machine must be put in adjustment, which means that all parts work together without undue load or strain. After attending machinery adjustment meetings held under the direction of the Extension Service in Lawrence county, most farmers have found that their troublesome machines were not worn out. They needed adjustment of the working parts.

Satisfactory work cannot be done in cold, crowded quarters with poor light and inadequate tools. Such conditions result in "patching-up" which seldom proves satisfactory.

The space should be large enough to house the machine, warm enough to provide comfortable working conditions and well lighted. Such quarters can be inexpensively provided on most farms.

Helpful information on all phases of farm machinery adjustment and repair is available from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Buildings, New Castle.

RECORD CORN GROWERS OF ABNORMAL SEASON

Corn matured unusually early and well during the past season. Conditions favored earlier than normal planting, and generally favored rapid development and early maturity. Warm weather during the fall hastened complete ripening and hardening of the crop. As a result, corn was harvested this fall in very different condition compared to a year ago. There should be no trouble with mold or spoilage.

The danger of such a season is that it leads farmers to feel that corn varieties or hybrids which are later than the varieties normally grown, are safe to plant every year. Such ideas are sure to lead to grief in normal seasons, and to serious trouble in seasons like 1940. Larger, later corns may be expected to produce larger ears and apparently larger crops than those normally grown. Much of this extra weight, however, is water, and crib shrinkage is high. Test records show that in any corn a group of later varieties or hybrids will produce only a comparatively few more bushels than an earlier group, and if the season is unfavorable, the late corns will be chaffy and have lower feeding value.

The sale of hybrids which are too late for a given section is a common tendency. The number of days required to mature is underestimated. In the midwest corn belt summers are normally warmer, especially night temperatures, and corn grows and develops much more rapidly. When one plants any considerable acreage of a corn later than that which is generally produced in a locality, he is taking a chance of having a sappy, immature crop.

In harvesting a hybrid demonstration of a hill top field in Montour county on October 6, a late hybrid carried much moisture and the fodder was still green. The same hybrids planted at approximately the same time on lower lying fields only a few miles away were examined and the ears and fodder were found to be dead ripe. Cooler nights at the higher elevation were the only apparent explanation. Farmers should keep these things in mind when buying seed for next year and should not be misled by the experience of one season.

WHY COLOR VARIES IN DRESSED TURKEYS

The skin color of high quality dressed turkeys varies from a light shade of cream to rich yellow. This variation of skin color is basically determined by at least four factors, and the yellow pigment in the turkey's skin and fat is principally a chemical, which is found in most leafy plants and yellow corn. Therefore, turkeys that graze on abundant pasture, or are fed alfalfa or clover hay and yellow corn usually have more color than turkeys that are fed principally on wheat, oats, barley, and buckwheat.

A second factor for variation in yellow color is the amount of fat in the carcasses. Turkeys normally do not have much yellow color in their skins until they are well-fattened because this color results from a fat soluble pigment which settles in the fat.

A third factor is that some turkeys have a strong inherited ability to assimilate this yellow pigment called "xanthophyll" through their digestive systems and deposit it in their skin and fat. Other birds cannot assimilate this pigment nearly as well even if they are fed rations rich in the yellow-producing chemical and have ample fat deposited in their skins. These birds, by inheritance, are white skinned turkeys.

A fourth factor affecting the amount of yellow color is the method of removing the feathers. When turkeys are dry-picked, semi-scalded or plucked by any other method that will allow the epidermis to remain on the carcasses, the yellow color in the skin is preserved. If the birds are hot-scalded and the epidermis is removed, much of the yellow color is also rubbed off with the epidermis.

The degree of yellowness preferred by consumers varies much with individual people and also communities. Most Pennsylvania-produced turkeys have had pasture on which to graze, and plenty of yellow corn and alfalfa meal. Therefore shoppers for their roasting turkeys in Pennsylvania have been accustomed to buying turkeys with skin colors ranging from rich cream to yellow in color. In sections of the country where wheat, oats, and barley are the principal cereals in turkey rations, people have not become accustomed to the rich yellow skin color. There, in these sections the lighter skin colors may be preferred.

OLD AND YOUNG NEED MINERALS AND VITAMINS

Good health habits, like good thrift habits, should start early. Especially is this true of one of the most important of all health habits—that of eating a good diet, states Miss Bonetta Gordon, home economics extension representative of Lawrence County.

Present day nutrition, it has been said, offers an extra ten years to the life of anyone who lives under its guidance. According to one of the country's leading nutritionists, these extra years probably can be added to life at its prime, thus postponing the effects of advancing old age.

Poor diets may make a person old before his time, she points out. Inadequate diets year after year naturally take their toll in chronic fatigue, shifting aches and pains and certain kinds of digestive trouble. They lower natural resistance to infection and destroy a person's sense of well-being.

In some ways, a good diet for an older person differs from a good diet of a younger person. As far as is known, there are three main things to keep in mind. First, an older person needs fewer calories than he did when he was younger. Second, though his calories are reduced, his need for minerals and vitamins remains much the same. Third, food for older persons needs to be easy to eat and easy to digest.

Older persons need fewer calories because they use less energy. They do not work so hard or play so actively and many of their body mechanisms are slowed down. The easiest way to tell whether too much food energy is to watch the scales. Eating too much brings on overweight, and the disadvantages of overweight increase with age.

The best way to cut down on calories is to go slow on rich desserts, pastries, rich dressings, and other rich foods. At the same time, the amount of minerals and vitamins must not be reduced. To retain the best of health, continue to eat plenty of protective foods—milk, fruit and vegetables, some foods rich in vitamin B1, and some with vitamin D.

The navy requires the officer of the deck when in port to wear gloves and carry a spyglass.

Delay In Filling Many State Posts

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 24 — The disclosure by Gov. Arthur H. James that he does not expect to fill "soon" the numerous vacancies in the state government, among them three cabinet posts, lead observers at the state capitol today to believe they were being kept in reserve for the 1942 gubernatorial battle.

The patronage at the disposal of the governor adds up to more than $125,000 a year in salaries, more patronage perhaps than any governor has had in recent times, other than at the inception of his administration.

It is well-recognized in administration and party circles that considerable dissatisfaction exists among local political leaders over patronage, or the lack of it, as they see it. The support of these leaders is now being sought by the new guard of Pennsylvania, the insurgent group headed by P. Stephen Stahlnecker which seeks to overthrow the existing G. O. P. leadership and "revitalize" the Republican party.

Many Jobs
The jobs at the disposal of the governor are many and important, however, and regular party leaders evidently hope that until they are filled disgruntled politicians can be kept in line. These vacancies, judiciously apportioned among the politically "deserving," just in time, let us say, to affect the May 1942 state committee primary race, may have an important effect on keeping malcontents in line.

Here is a list of the more important jobs the governor has to fill along with their annual salaries:

Secretary of Health, $10,000.
Secretary of Revenue, $12,000.
Five members of the State Parole Board, four to receive $10,000 and the chairman $10,500.

Three members of the Civil Service Commission, salaries of $25 a day and traveling expenses, but not to exceed $1,500 a year.

Member of the Milk Control Commission, $6,000.

Member of the Liquor Control Board, $10,000.

Member of the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, $9,000.

Two members of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, $5,000 each.

Secretary of the Parole Board, $5,000.

Personnel Director of the Civil Service Commission, $7,000.

Adjutant General, in the event Maj. Gen. Edward Martin does not return to the office after he is retired next year by the army, $10,000.

Director of Selective Service for Pennsylvania, up to $10,000.

President of Orphans Court in Lancaster county, $12,000.

Magistrate Court, No. 28, Philadelphia, $14,000.

Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 3, Philadelphia, $14,000.

Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 4, Philadelphia, $14,000.

President Judge of Common Pleas Court of 28th district, Columbia and Montour counties, $9,000.

Treasurer of Juniata county, fees

In addition, a general director of parole at $7,500 a year and up to 10 district supervisors at $5,000 a year will be appointed from Civil Service lists.

Canton Man Held For Daughter's Death

CANTON, O., Nov. 24—An embittered 47-year-old father was booked and held in Canton city jail tonight after the slaying Saturday of his 23-year-old married daughter.

Bufert Ray Doney, a truck driver here will be charged with the murder of Mrs. Almada B. Whitmer, A. C. L. Barthelme, Stark county prosecutor, said Mrs. Whitmer was slain Saturday on a lonely road beyond the city's southwest industrial section.

According to the prosecutor, the father admitted the slaying in a written statement given early today to Barthelme and Detectives Captain John D. Beatty. They quoted him as saying that he had "no regrets" for his action.

"Doney said he shot her deliberately and was ready for his medicine," Barthelme said. The prosecutor also quoted Doney as saying: "I satisfied myself."

A formal charge of first-degree murder will be placed against him after which he will be arraigned in Municipal Court, Barthelme explained.

New Castle Man Elected
President Of Veterans
For Coming Year

TWENTY-FIRST REUNION HELD

Myron T. Stone, Pennsylvania Railroad conductor who lives at 607 Newell avenue, Seventh ward, will head the Erie & Ashtabula division group of the Pennsylvania System Veteran Employees' association as president during 1942.

Stone was named during the twenty-first annual reunion celebration of the division oldtimers in The Castleton Saturday afternoon. He succeeds Stanley Morosky, also a New Castle man, who was president this year.

Election of the president was automatic inasmuch as the first vice president always moves into the leadership. Stone had served in that capacity under Morosky.

Lally Presides
Attendance at the reunion this year dropped below past years, but enthusiasm and that genuine old railroad fellowship suffered not a bit. The afternoon program, presided over by R. B. Lally, Niles, O., was informal so far as speaking was concerned, and brought Doretha Stewart's dancing students to entertain.

Reunion leaders felt that "busy road work" resulting from the national defense speed-up, kept many of the active members of the veterans' organization from participating.

In fact, one of the usual honored guests of the Pennsylvanians, J. Amesen, associated with the M. A. Hanna Co. at Ashtabula, O., came and enjoyed dinner—and then was summoned to his job by an urgent defense call. He left before he could add his customary words of greeting.

Most of those summoned to the front to "say something" were re-

Gophers Hit Jackpot, Irish Finish Unbeaten In Saturday Grid Card

Minnesota's mighty Gophers, the New York Yankees of collegiate football, hit the jackpot and Notre Dame's gallant warriors achieved their first undefeated season since 1930 as the gaudy fall sport moved within the shadows of the finish line Saturday.

In ringing up their sixth Big Ten championship in eight seasons, the talented Minnesota athletes extended their winning streak to 17. Wisconsin, the victor, was buried under a pile of touchdowns, 41-6. Bruce Smith, a sure shot for an All-American berth, finished his rah-rah career with a brilliant performance as Minnesota clinched the national championship.

Bertelli Stars
Collegiate football's 1941 Bob Feller, Angelo Bertelli, was chiefly responsible for Notre Dame's 20-18 victory over Southern California and the Irish's first unbeaten campaign since the immortal Knute Rockne answered the last call. Bertelli flipped back his arm 21 times, connecting 13 times for 156 yards. Notre Dame won eight times and was deadlocked by Army, the only black mark on its record.

Penn State jarred the district's football pillars by crushing Pitt, 31-7. In triumphing the Panthers, the Lions notched their first win in Pitt stadium since 1919. Aliquippa Bill Smaltz and Pepper Petrella, State standouts, proved two of the smoothest performers to play in Pittsburgh this season.

Buckeyes Surprise
The biggest surprise of the day was uncorked by Paul Brown's Ohio State eleven. Paired against a supposedly invincible Michigan giant killer, the Buckeyes played the Wolverines to a 20-20 draw. Michigan was forced to come from behind to earn a deadlock. The tie gave State and Michigan a tie for second place honors in the Big Ten race.

Joe DiMaggio Learning Fast About Babies, Blozies May Turn Pro Next Year

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Say Joe DiMaggio at the lights the other night... Says he's keeping in shape putting diapers on Joe, Jr.... Who now scales 9½ pounds bedside... "That little fellow," says Joe Sr. proudly, "can yell louder than Larry MacPhail or Leo Durocher... For a while there I thought he was going to be a lefty, like Gomez... but now I see he takes a nice cut at the milk bottle with either hand... So I figure he'll be a switch-hitter... Also Dan Topping... without the missus... (Sonja Henie)... who will soon be here with her ice show making another $300,000 for three months work... and don't you wish you could skate?"

Skater Raises Bees
And speaking of skaters, Emil Bouchard, Montreal Canadiens' rookie defenseman... is a bee raiser... And he couldn't play hockey this year... until he had told the Canadian government how many honey raisers he had... So he hired some bee counters at $1 a day to take the census... And the count must have been okay... because now he's playing hockey... Mike Jacobs is casting a speculative eye on Bill Judza... Rangers star... after seeing him get a fast duke over Pat Egan on the ice... And hockey fans are now calling him Punch 'n' Judy... And Tim Mara, owner of the New York Giants footballers, has the inside track on Georgetown's world champion shot putter and tackle... Al Blozis... if the big fellow wants to play pro football... But Al... a student in chemistry... may turn thumbs down on the cash and carry trade... when two of Al's shot put makers were rejected because of a down hill throw... he quipped... "Well maybe I'll make them on the level next season..."

Four Lettermen Back From Last Year As Nucleus For East Siders

With four lettermen back from last year, and the addition of five lettermen from the Mahoning junior high team of last year, the Ben Franklin High basketball team for the 1941-42 season will be the strongest in the history of the school. Head Floor Coach William "Bill" Wallace has no headache this season.

Assisting Wallace will be Austin Comendow, former Mahoning High coach and now head football coach at Franklin High. He brings a lot of valuable floor experience to the east side institution.

The lettermen from the Franklin team last year are as follows: Eddie Jacobs, Fred Wimer, Jimmy Fair and Steve Wasilewski. The Mahoning lettermen reporting are Charley DeVido, Lauro, Rouzzo, Izzo and Lombardo.

In addition to the above the Franklin coaches have the two Koszela brothers, kin of the famous Henry and "Flash" of the New Castle High team of other years and now with the championship Polish Falcons. The brothers are both up and coming floor stars. The opening game will probably be played around November 28.

Loss Of Rostov Heavy Blow To Red Forces

(Editor's note: The British possess superiority of force over the Axis powers in the north African war theatre, but loss of Rostov marked a heavy blow to Russia. Capt. B. H. Liddell Hart writes today in a searching war analysis for International News Service.)

By CAPT. B. H. LIDDELL HART
Famous British Military Expert
And Analyst

(Written Expressly for International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 24.—The past week was marked by striking events. The coming week may be even more momentous in determining where these events may lead.

In North Africa the long-expected British offensive, launched on Nov. 18, gained a big opening success. The rising curtain on the western desert reveals the British now possess in that war theatre superiority of force over their opponents.

Rostov Loss Is Blow
Unfortunately, the success there can hardly affect the immediate situation on the eastern front, where loss of Rostov is a new, heavy blow to the Russians.

Much will depend upon whether the Germans can follow it up quickly and press across the Don into the Caucasus.

In planning the British offensive in Cyrenaica, General Claude Auchinleck and Sir Alan Cunningham took full advantage of the opportunity the desert interior offered for mechanized forces practicing the strategy of indirect approach.

They took care not to run their heads against the fortified belts stretching from the Mediterranean sea to Sidi Omar, 30 miles inland. Instead, they were content to fix enemy attention here by threat attacks with infantry divisions while British armored divisions played along 90 miles of desert frontiers southward between Sidi Omar and Jerabub for a sweep around the enemy's flanks and across his rear. Beforehand, it didn't look as if the British could hope to benefit by catching the enemy off balance as they did at Sidi Barrani last winter. For then the Italians had made long jumps forward on the desert route to Egypt and stuck midway. As a result, General O'Connor's sudden move caught them off balance, and once he was around their flank he was able to use their own weight as the means of their overthrow, as in Ju-Jitsu.

Enemy Caught By Surprise
This time, by contrast, the enemy was concentrated inside its own frontier, waiting for the British offensive. It would seem, however, that Cunningham's stroke came at such a moment and in such an indirect way as to catch the enemy on the wrong foot.

During the previous few days British mechanized patrols found the enemy had withdrawn from his forward positions. When Cunningham swung his scythe forward Tuesday morning, it swept 50 miles through the desert without meeting opposition. This suggested the German and Italian forces were being reshuffled, possibly for a counterstroke when the British overreached themselves.

If that was the intention of the Axis command, something would seem to have gone wrong with its execution. The weather may have been an upsetting factor. The sudden downpour of rain which greeted the British advance was not as heavy in the desert as in the coastal region where the two German armored divisions lay. The sand there became a morass which clogged the German counter-movement.

Another factor may have been failure of the Italian armored divisions, which were posted further inland, to put a check on Cunningham's side. The Italian retreat opened the way for the British armored forces to cross this plateau that, like a stone wall, covered the coastal strip.

Thereby the British have come within close reach of Tobruk and closer still to the enemy's communications.

They almost encircled the body of his force to the east, which now seems to be hurriedly withdrawing from the frontier zone, and already have repulsed several attempts to break the tightening rings.

It is too early to assume that Gen. Erwin Rommel's divisions can make no effective counter-stroke, but the Germans are carrying a heavy handicap in their Italian allies as well as in their precarious route of supply across the Mediterranean.

Billion Dollar Farm Investment In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—Pennsylvania's investment in farm lands, farm buildings, implements and machinery amount to approximately one billion dollars, an analysis by the commerce department revealed.

According to statistics gathered by the U. S. Bureau of Census and analyzed by the department, the department, the value of farm buildings in this state last year exceeded one-half billion dollars, while farm land itself was estimated to be worth $363,337,000 and farm implements and machinery $129,099,593.

Total value of the land and buildings on an average Pennsylvania farm is $5,113 and farm implements and machinery $764, Commerce Secretary Mark S. James reported.

"While the land and buildings on an average farm in the United States are valued at more than that for Pennsylvania or $5,518, the farm buildings are valued at only $1,707 and the farm implements and machinery $501," James said.

"These values are based on the bare farm, buildings and machinery, but no considerations is made of the amount invested in livestock seeds and inventory of farm products. If this is taken into account, many more millions of dollars would be added to the total value of farms."

"In thinking about the national defense program, the emphasis has been naturally placed upon manufacturing industry. Million dollar corporations are in the spotlight and there is a tendency to forget the farmers since their business are divided up into small units.

There is no way to brag tactfully. When you tell how superior you are, listeners think you are making comparisons.

Local Audiences Hear Facts About War In Europe

Two Eye-Witnesses Speak At Meetings In New Castle On Sunday

Two eye witnesses to the horrors of the present war in Europe were in New Castle Sunday afternoon for the purpose of addressing meetings.

In the Polish Falcon hall on Miller street, Paul Super, told of the invasion of Poland, and the subsequent events in the northern theatre of the war, while on Long avenue, Major Vassos Vergis told of the Battle of Greece and of the Island of Crete.

Both of the speakers gave dramatic accounts of events overseas but both of them were satisfied that victory for the Allies is in the making.

Following the meeting with Greco-Americans, Major Vergis was the honor guest at a dinner party in the Castleton Hotel.

This Home Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

Very Easy To Make. No Cooking. Saves Big Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, can't be surpassed for real results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of really amazing cough relief—about four times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

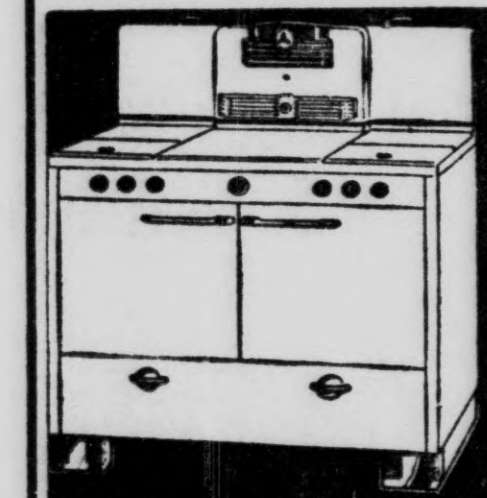

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allows the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

We Believe You Should Know These Facts

SINCE NATIONAL DEFENSE has first call on copper, aluminum, zinc and other materials, drastic cuts are being made in the manufacture of telephone wire, cables, switchboards and other telephone equipment.

This means that we must seriously restrict the construction of additional telephone plant needed at this time. It is not unlikely that before long this will result in some shortages and delays in telephone service—in spite of all we have done, are doing or can do to prevent them.

This situation is particularly serious because of record-breaking demands for telephone service. We in Pennsylvania are now serving more telephones and handling more calls than ever before.

Thus far, we have been able to handle the staggering loads for three reasons.

First, because we have been using the "margins" of extra plant which we normally provide for growth and for emergencies.

Second, because we have greatly increased our forces. We have added 3,300 men and women to our organization here in Pennsylvania so far this year.

Third, because for many months, we have been adding new plant and equipment at the rate of some $100,000 a working day!

But for a long time, growth has been far above normal and our margins of extra plant have in many points been depleted.

Now, because of shortages of metals, there are growing limitations on continued expansion of our plant. We are no longer able to build as fast as the demands for service continue to soar.

Far-sighted research by the Bell Laboratories has provided substitutes for some of the materials we require. These substitutes help—but cannot solve—the problem. We must face the important fact that there is no suitable substitute for copper for telephone wires.

WE DO NOT BELIEVE this situation will—to any great extent—affect the service of our present customers immediately. But in case you do experience occasional delays, we want you to know the reason for them. We ask you to believe that we are doing everything in our power to keep your telephone service fast and adequate in the face of serious problems.
